FIGHTING THE PEST.

Awful State of Affairs Revealed in Hamburg.

THE PLAGUE IN ITS NATIVE ELEMENT.

Hunger, Squalor, Filth and Misery Extend the Open Hand of Welcome to the Disease—Sanitary Precautions in America.

An Open Invitation to the Plague. HAMBURG, Sept. 16.—The thermometer today has varied between 70 and 75 degrees Fahrenheit. The air has been humid and oppressive and the city has suffered under a dead calm since daybreak. The fresh cases today have numbered 987, or eleven fewer than yesterday. The deaths have numbered 313 or ten more than yesterday. There have been 346 burials or fifteen more than yesterday. The hospitals and cholera barracks are treating 3,099 patients. Outside of the hospitals and barracks there are practically no patients.

Two thousand and eight hundred of the patients now under treatment are of the degree of the city's population. They live in insanitary misery in the filthiest quarters and are of the class which has suffered most severely from every epidemic of the last fifty years. The other 300, with hardly a dozen exception, belong to the families of fairly prosperous artisans.

Of the persons who have died of cholera in the last three weeks 3,000 or about 10 per cent. were children. In thousands of families both parents have been taken, and thus the orphans have been left a charge upon the city.

The board of health has just finished an investigation of the tenement districts of Hamn, Horn, Barnbrook and Hammerbrook. An appalling condition of affairs was ascertained. A number of the investigating committee said that ever since the outbreak of the plague the people in these districts have defied every law of sanitation. Hardly a tenement house was found in the four suburbs where any sanitary conveniences whatever had been provided by the landlords. Cesspools behind most of the tenements have been filled with decaying garbage, while in houses, hardly thirty feet away, persons were sleeping seven or eight in a room.

Since the scarcity of employment has been felt, the commission said, the people in these houses have had only vegetables and refuse meat to eat. After deaths from cholera they have neglected to use any of the disinfecting and cleansing agents to which they have put on dead men's clothes before sanitary officials were notified of the deaths. The people from these localities have consequently given trouble to the police and the police are still filling the hospitals with their sick.

An Important Conference. NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—A conference was held at the mayor's office yesterday between the mayor, President Wilson of the board of health, Public Works Commissioner Gilroy, Police Commissioner Martin and other officials. The cholera situation was discussed and it was stated that the mayor had decided to ask the president to stop all immigration to the country until all danger was passed.

The mayor also notified Commissioner of Street Cleaning Bureau that there was a sufficient supply of water available for flushing the streets. In the vicinity of the river front, the mayor informed the commissioner, the river water could be used and the street department would co-operate by furnishing men and engines for this purpose.

The Kentucky Legislature Takes Action. FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. 17.—Asiatic cholera was the first thing taken up in the Kentucky legislature yesterday morning. Mr. Spaulding, of Marion, introduced a resolution directing the governor to petition the president to prohibit immigration from the landings of vessels from infected ports on our coasts for sixty days.

Mr. Taylor, of Franklin, said it would create a financial panic. Mr. Spaulding declared the measure was necessary and demanded it. It was adopted by a vote of 48 to 12.

The Bohemian's Sick and Dead. QUARANTINE, Staten Island, Sept. 17.—The records of the Bohemian's surgeon show that on the voyage fifty-three in all were sick and three died, thirty-seven recovered and four were transferred to the hospital yesterday morning, as before stated. The barge Harvest Home, in tow of the tug Millard, passed quarantine at 8:15 p. m., for Hoboken with the cabin baggage from the hold of the Normania, all the baggage having been treated again today.

To Prevent Further Immigrant Travel from Exterior the City. CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—At a conference of health officials with the mayor yesterday measures for preventing through immigrant travel from entering the city were discussed. It was decided that if the co-operation of the railroads can be secured, a distributing depot will be established on one of the belt lines, so that all immigrants not bound for Chicago can be carried around the city.

Authorized to Confine a Rigid Quarantine. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 17.—The state board of health yesterday authorized the Indiana board to continue a rigid quarantine against all trains from New York. Trains are stopped at the belt and inspected as to their sanitary condition. Suspected passengers are made to explain whether or not they are from a cholera region.

HON. ADLAI E. STEVENSON AT RALEIGH.

Whitlaw Reid Before the Republican League Clubs at Buffalo—Senator Stewart of Nevada Declares That He Will Vote for Weaver.

Stevenson at Raleigh. RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 17.—This hospitable city of North Carolina was early yesterday morning greeted the democratic candidate for vice-presidency, Hon. Adlai E. Stevenson, and all day long the streets were alive with people and resonant with cheering. So far as the weather was concerned nothing was wanting for the success of Raleigh's democratic demonstration. An added zest was given to the occasion by the fact that the state association of democratic clubs in session at the Raleigh hotel had brought here representatives of the young democracy from every part of the state.

Gen. Stevenson's party arrived at the city at 10 a. m. and were met by a large crowd of people. They were met by a reception committee headed by Col. F. S. Keenan and by the governor's guard with a band and escorted to the Raleigh hotel where they were met by the city's headquarters for the day.

The town filled up rapidly with people during the forenoon, the former element being conspicuous in the crowd on the streets. At 12 o'clock Gen. Stevenson and his wife and all the guests of the occasion were ushered into carriages, and escorted by a cavalcade and band, were driven to the grounds of the Raleigh hotel.

The broad avenue through which the carriage passed is lined with handsome and comfortable-looking mansions, surrounded by spacious grounds and lawns. The houses were mostly decorated with the national colors.

An audience of about 3,000 people had gathered beneath the trees at St. Mary's church, where the speaker was to appear. The speaker was to appear at 3 o'clock.

Gen. Stevenson appeared on the speaker's stand accompanied by Senator Keenan. He spoke for an hour and a half, dividing his time between the tariff question and the force bill issue. His manner was very earnest and his words were full of meaning. He pointed his points by bringing his good right fist down on the table with a resounding thump. He said: "I don't feel that I am to you citizens of North Carolina, a stranger. I know something of the history of this great commonwealth. The traditions, the history, the glory of old North Carolina are as dear to me as to you. The idea of my kindred as of yours was shod at the battle of King's mountain, and my kindred with yours united in forming the glorious Mecklenburg declaration of independence. I feel that I have a right to a welcome from old North Carolina. And, indeed, I have had a welcome for which I wish to extend my most profound and grateful thanks."

The speaker's discussion of the tariff question followed these preliminary remarks. Gen. Stevenson then turned his attention to the force bill, and while upon this subject awoke the enthusiasm of his hearers to a high pitch. After reviewing the effects of the car-packet rule in the south after the close of the war he declared that it is a contemplated and intended by the republicans, if successful in the coming contest, to pass a force bill.

Whitlaw Reid and the Republican League Clubs. BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Following is Whitlaw Reid's talk before the national meeting of republican clubs just before adjournment yesterday.

When two campaign clubs marched into the hall occurring at 10 o'clock, Reid, there was a scene of the wildest enthusiasm, the delegates standing on the chairs and shouting themselves hoarse. When order had been restored all were told by the president, Mr. Reid was introduced and said:

Notice was served upon me that no speech was expected and that you were to be a silent listener. I feel that I am here, therefore, except to thank you and to congratulate you upon the fact that the republicans are turning the tables and that the outlook is most encouraging. Because there has not been much talk about the republican party, I beg of you not to dismiss the minds of that party. I feel that I am here, therefore, except to thank you and to congratulate you upon the fact that the republicans are turning the tables and that the outlook is most encouraging. Because there has not been much talk about the republican party, I beg of you not to dismiss the minds of that party.

Here's What the Plasterers Think of ROCK PLASTER.

WE THE UNDERSIGNED, contracting plasterers, after much experience and observation, take pleasure in testifying to the practical character of ROCK PLASTER, and while it will remove a net inconceivable amount of business, namely that of patching, we advocate its use, as it enables us to do work and guarantee the results, and enables us to carry on our trade at all seasons of the year, and modernizes that business of the plasterer on the same footing as that occupied by the other trades through the advent of machinery and improved methods.

DEMOCRATIC TACKLE.

Low Methods of the Party Managers—Mr. Webster's Local History Exposed.

This morning the Decatur Review, seized upon the affair between the manager of the street car company and its employees relating to an effort on the part of the latter to form a union and the consequent discharge of some of the men who are engaged in forming the union, to array the labor unions against R. H. Mills, Republican candidate for state's attorney, because he happens to be a stockholder in the company. This is a repetition of the old story to which the Review has an often called attention, namely, that the farmers and the laboringmen and mechanics of the country never attempted an organization that the Democratic demagogues did not use in some way in an effort to turn it to the account of the Democratic party, and nine cases out of ten injured the organization thereby. Democratic leaders in this city have all the summer been engaged in an effort to get up a general row between labor and its employer, in the hope that it might help the Democratic party at the election. These demagogues have no respect for either private or public business. All these are trampled under foot in order to get votes for the Democratic party. This has become so apparent that the laboringmen and mechanics and business men are becoming exasperated over it, and the chances are that the Democratic party on account of the demagogical work of its leaders will suffer materially at the polls.

The Review has now undertaken to make the street car company affair serve the Democratic party by defeating R. H. Mills whose money employs labor and gives labor a chance to work, and electing A. G. Webster, whose money is not used to employ labor. To do this that Democratic organ publishes this morning an article in which it says that leading Republicans as soon as they heard of the action of the street car company sent a man to Mr. Mills and asked him if he was crazy to let this thing go on, saying, "Don't you know if this strike isn't settled it will cost you from 800 to 1000 votes in Decatur," and it also states that Mr. Mills counseled with his brother, A. H. Mills, about the matter and was generally much exercised over it, and arranged for a meeting of the employees of the company at his office this morning.

This whole matter is made up of whole cloth and was conjured up by demagogues to agitate the laboring people, and if possible use them in the interest of the Democracy. Outside of the fact that this is an insult to the intelligence of the mechanics and working people it is an extremely contemptible way of campaigning.

R. H. Mills was last night to all an appointment and did not get home until 1:30 o'clock this morning. No Republican rushed to him to implore him, nor did he have any conversation with A. H. Mills about it, nor was there an arrangement for a meeting with the street car employees at his office, and there was no such meeting.

If such methods as this must be resorted to to elect Mr. A. G. Webster, the state's attorney, then it becomes the duty of the people to look after Mr. Webster. There is no man in Decatur who has been more offensively partisan and selfish than he. His nomination was in the nature of an appeal to prejudice—church prejudice, if you please. It is Mr. Webster who for two years past has been diligently at work trying to arouse the prejudice of the German Lutheran against the Republican party on the school question and it was because the local Democracy were led to believe that Mr. Webster carried this vote in his pocket that the nomination was accorded him. This was practically admitted and practically stated by him in the Democratic convention. If Mr. Webster has his pocket full of the German Lutheran vote as is claimed for him, why this extraordinary effort to get the labor vote also? Mr. Webster probably is not so full in the votes he claims to control as he was at first supposed.

It has leaked out among the German Lutheran people that when Mr. Webster withdrew from the English Lutheran church because he was not allowed to carry that church with him, he was tempted religious associations with the German Lutheran church, that he sought reinstatement in the English Lutheran church, for the reason that the German Lutheran church did not afford him a congenial home. Many German Lutherans are now of the opinion that if they were not congenial with Mr. Webster, he was to go to heaven with him, and it is not congenial enough for them to go to the polls with him.

The facts are that Mr. Webster has been "persecuted actively" as a partisan and his "offensive partisanship" has lost him friends. It has also leaked out that Mr. Webster's Democracy is of the sort that makes him believe that the country would be better off if the German Lutheran soldiers, who belong to the Grand Army of the Republic were removed from the earth, and it is alleged that some time ago when Mr. Roth, who was a member of the G. A. R. was the pastor of the English Lutheran church, Mr. Webster in the presence of a reputable citizen of Decatur, seeing the Grand Army Post march by, became agitated at the sight of the old veterans and remarked, "There goes the ruin of the city and I am sorry your pastor belongs to them" or words to that effect. These things have not added to his popularity as a candidate. They show that his heart is not so warm toward the people who vote when he is not when he wants their votes. These things, if true, show that he carries a narrow, partisan heart, full of the narrowest sort of prejudice, and the knowledge of these facts has led his party demagogues to make the present attack on R. H. Mills, the Republican candidate, whereby they seek to bolster up Mr. Webster's chances by an attempt to agitate the laboring people into voting for him and against Mr. Mills. Labor unions have no connection with politics; no more, in fact, than church organizations, and these demagogues attempt on the part of Democratic leaders to drag them into politics will, by the wisdom and sense of fair play of the people, result on the party whose leaders resort to such tricks to bring success to that party and its candidates, who seek at this juncture to be unable to stand up in a fair fight when the issue is at stake.
